

March 26, 2020 – Information on assessment extensions, exams and T2 dates

Dear students,

We understand the past few weeks have been incredibly challenging for many as the COVID-19 situation has affected our families, businesses, communities, and our way of life.

Although we have transitioned to an online campus model to support your health and learning needs, we understand that the uncertainty around the current situation has caused disruptions to your normal study routines.

In recognition of this, we have made the following changes to support students in successfully completing their remaining assessments for this trimester.

Assessment extension

All assignments due to be submitted for the rest of this trimester will have a one-week extension automatically applied. You do not need to apply for an extension.

Examinations rescheduled

Planned examinations for this trimester will also occur one week later to allow time for extra study. Examinations will now take place in Week 14. Further details of arrangements for examinations will be provided shortly.

AccessAbility students

As per our AccessAbility guidelines, AccessAbility students will still be able to apply for an additional week extension on top of the extra week provided using the current process.

Results released

Release of results will also be delayed one week, these will now be released on 26 May, 2020.

Questions

We understand you will have questions about how these changes affect you and your studies. Again, we ask that you please be patient with us as we navigate these changes. We will be uploading a list of Q&A's to our online Campus webpage, so please keep an eye out for these.

While these are challenging times for all, we are committed to supporting your wellbeing and learning needs and we hope that these changes support you in your continued studies.
