

Conditions of Use of the Library

All users of the Library have the right to pursue their research or study without unnecessary disturbance or distraction and have an obligation to respect the rights of others. Any person who is causing a disturbance will be asked to leave.

Users of the Library must

- Show their student ID card or other evidence of identity when requested by Library or building security staff.
- Comply with the provisions of the Copyright Act 1968 and the Copyright Amendment (Digital Agenda) Act 2000 currently in force. Users are referred to the statutory notice posted adjacent to copying machines and Library computers.
- Present all books and contents of bags and cases for inspection on request, by a staff member, or when the electronic security alarm indicates that an item may have been incompletely loaned.

Security of personal property

The Library assumes no responsibility for the security of any unattended personal property.

Library users are responsible for their possessions at all times and should not leave them unattended.

Computing facilities

Computers in the Library are provided for research and study only. The computers are for the use of currently enrolled students only. Students using this facility are required to produce a current student ID card as proof of their status.

Noise, Food and Drink

- Be considerate of others. Quiet conversation is permitted only.
- Turn mobile phones to silent on entry to the Library.
- Library users are permitted to consume covered or bottled drinks in the Library.
- No food is permitted to be consumed in the Library.
- All rubbish must be placed in bins, and study areas left free of litter.
